N. R. A. Disintegrates as Those in Authority Helplessly Look on

WASHINGTON—the most pitiful spectacle in the Nation's Capital these days is the slow dry-rot of the NRA. Gradually the organization which once was heralded in the headlines as typifying the New Deal has been falling into decay. And the tragedy, from Roosevelt's point of view, is this very thing—that the NRA so typifies the New Deal. Complete Blue Eagle disintegration will have serious political consequences.

Yet those responsible for the Blue Eagle stand by, apparently powerless to prevent the old bird from collapsing. No one gives it the hyperdemic—probably because it already has had too many.

In the end, the NRA will be chalked up as one of the lessons of putting faith in a military man in peacetime. The General reveled in the excitement of organizing the NRA, who once was looked upon almost as a second Messiah, was a great hero in the hurly-burly of war, but not in the slow grind of peace.

Comrades

Friends of former President Hoover are relating an amusing anecdote about his recent automobile trip through the Midwest.

According to the tale, Mr. Hoover, and his party, stopped at a railroad junction lunch-room one afternoon for a bite. They seated themselves at the counter and gave their orders.

A man, attired in overalls, came in and sat down next to Mr. Hoover.

"Travelling through?" he inquired companionably.

"Yes," the ex-President replied. "How are things around here?"

"Well, they could be better."

"What do you do?" Mr. Hoover asked.

"Nothing now, I'm unemployed," the man answered. "What do you do?"

Edison's Son

In white shirt-sleeves in a bare-walled office of the National Emergency Council sits Charles Edison, son of one of the famous inventors and one of the richest men in America. He holds down a $6,000-a-year job under the New Deal. As an expert in heavy-industries economics, he is running the President's program for housing development.

A friend, surprised to find him taking part in the Administration in such a comparatively minor capacity, ventured:

"I can't understand it, Charles. What is a general of industry doing in a government job like this?"

Handsome, grey-haired Edison smiled:

"Well, if I'm to be a general of industry it seems nice to have industry to be general of. And the way things were going before this Administration came into power, there wouldn't have been any very long. I thought I'd pitch in and see what I could do to help."

Defiant

Professor Rex Tugwell is a firm believer in the old military adage that the "best defensive is an aggressive offense."

Recently nominated by President Roosevelt for promotion to be Undersecretary of Agriculture, Tugwell has come under fire by Old Guard Senate Democrats, secretly anti-Brain Trust, on the ground that he is not a dirt farmer.

Friends have been seriously counselling Tugwell that he assume a more rural mode in his attire.

To such advice he has not only refused to give ear, but has become more dapper than ever. On the slightest provocation the handsome, young intellectual now appears in frock coat and silk hat.

Mail Bag

Y. T. Eri, Pa.—President Roosevelt swims in the White House pool at least two or three times a week; in warm weather, if not too busy, daily. He indulges in this favorite sport at the close of his

INCENDIARISM DENIED IN STOCKYARD BLAZE

Three Inquiries Being Made; 13 Major Buildings Lost in Fire

ESTIMATE IS GREAT

Strive to Resume Business As Usual Today

CHICAGO, May 21.—An army of laborers toiled in the fire-ravaged stockyards today in a desperate effort to provide facilities for handling almost 50,000 head of livestock, a normal Monday's receipts, even as firemen continued to pour water on smouldering ruins to prevent a resumption of the holocaust which has already taken a toll of between ten and fifteen million dollars in property loss.

After praising firefighters for their heroic work in halting the blaze which for a time threatened the entire city, packing company officials began "taking inventory."

13 LARGE BUILDINGS LOST

Thirteen major buildings—the nerve center of the world's greatest live stock market—are gutted, and over a hundred smaller buildings and homes completely destroyed.

Homes of at least 35 families are completely destroyed, while many others were damaged and are uninhabitable.

The street car lines, elevated lines, telephone company, gas company, water company suffered heavily.

The city fire department suffered losses estimated at almost $300,000. The engine house in the

BODY DISCOVERED

CHICAGO, May 21.—The charred body of an unidentified man was taken from the ruins of the Union Stock yards today, shattering hopes of fire department officials for a record of no lives lost, the body was found in the southwest corner of the yards, near the spot where the flames first burst forth Saturday afternoon.

yards burned to the ground, eight pieces of equipment were destroyed, and hundreds of feet of hose.

More than 100 insurance companies will divide losses in excess of $5,000,000, adjusters estimated today.

Three separate inquiries into the cause of the disaster were being conducted. Rumors that the fire was of incendiary origin as a result of labor trouble in the yards, were vehemently denied however. William J. O'Connor, assistant general manager of the Union Stock yards, said, "I can positively say that there is no foundation to these stories."

VISITORS KEPT OUT

A cordon of police surrounded the fire-stricken area today, keeping spectators from the stricken area and the danger of falling walls and gas main explosions. At

WRECKS HIS HOME, CLIFTON IN JAIL

Turney Clifton, S. Court-st., was held in the county jail Monday awaiting a hearing on charges of malicious destruction of property and intoxication. He was arrested at noon Sunday by Sheriff Charles Radcliff and Officer William McCrady after Clifton's wife signed affidavits in Squire H. O. Eveland's court.

Whether the hearing will be in Eveland's court or Mayor W. B. Cady's was not determined. Clifton allegedly wrecked the interior of his well-furnished S. Court-st. residence. He tore curtains from their places, smashed furniture, tore his wife's clothing to shreds and even tore the clothing from her person. He destroyed her spectacles, and pulled pictures from the wall throwing them to the floor. The only articles in the house which he did not destroy were an expensive rug which was pulled from the house by his brother, Elmer, and a picture of Elmer's son, Jack.

JACKSON, May 21.—Starting from a short circuit, fire swept the engine room of the Globe Iron Co., mine near here early today, causing damages estimated at $10,000.

The fire damage will necessitate a shut-down in operations at the mine for at least six weeks, it was said.

BONUS ISSUE MAY DELAY CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, May 21.—A move by the veterans' bloc to force a Senate vote on the Bonus issue today threatened to upset the administration's plans for adjourning Congress June 5.

Final enactment of tariff, silver, housing, bank deposit insurance and farm licensing legislation constituted the administration program for the 14 remaining legislative days. If the bonus bill were added to this program, the adjournment date might be postponed another week.

Any delay in adjournment would give the House liberals more time in which to force a vote on the

Sea Monster, Thirteen Feet Long, is Caught

LONDON, May 21.—The mystery of the famed monster of Loch Ness was believed by many to have been solved today as the result of the capture of a strange sea creature by a fisherman in Moray Firth, Scottish bay just a few miles away from Loch Ness.

The captured specimen was 13 feet long and one foot wide. It was of a silvery gray color, and had a thin, sharply-pointed head and large eyes. It corresponded in many respects with the detailed descriptions of the Loch Ness monster given by more than 100 eye-witnesses during the past several months.

People flocked from miles around to view the Moray Firth beast, proudly displayed by its fisherman-captor, James White.

BOMB INJURES FEDERAL POST OFFICE CLERK

Diabolical Device Explodes in Main Office of U. S. Department

ADDRESS IS HUNTED

Employee Loses Hand Inspecting Package

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Two men were injured—one critically—today when a bomb sent through the mails exploded in the main post office.

The hand of Myrton Genung, a clerk, was blown away when he opened the package containing the infernal machine. His condition is critical.

Encased in a large volume entitled "Life Among the Lowly," from which the pages had been cut, only the fact that the package was improperly addressed had kept it from being delivered. The addressee was not revealed.

SENT IN NEW YORK

The bomb was said to have been sent from New York, but several hours after the explosion postal inspectors reported they had been unable to determine to whom the package had been addressed.

Today it was taken to the "dead letter" division to be examined. Genung opened it. A reverberating roar resulted, shattering heavy plate glass windows and rocking the building noticeably.

Dazed, Genung was momentarily motionless. Then,

"My God, my hand!" he shrieked.

Clutching the stump with his other hand, he staggered into the corridor and collapsed. A tourniquet was applied immediately and he was rushed to a hospital.

A negro employee—the only person near Genung at the time—was cut on the arm by flying bits of the bomb.

Postal inspectors said the bomb was one of the most diabolically clever devices of the sort they had ever examined and was undoubtedly the work of an expert. A trigger was so arranged as to be released when the package was opened. This movement turned a switch which hooked up a dry battery. Current from the battery quickly brought a wire to white heat. This hot wire ignited the explosives and the explosion followed.

TRUCK FALLS INTO GULCH, FIVE DEAD

TYLER, Tex., May 21.—Five persons were killed and a sixth probably fatally injured today when a truck went off a narrow bridge and dropped 30 feet into a gulch. The dead were Troy Pool, 21; Lloyd Dowell, 22, and three negroes.

3 BANDITS TAKE $10,000 IN RAID

AVONMORE, Pa., May 21.—Three armed bandits—two white men and a negro—today held up and robbed the First National bank of Avonmore and escaped with about $10,000.

Preliminary police reports said the men rifled the vault after holding the cashier and a teller at bay.

Strange Autos Cause Concern Here Sunday

Possibilities of a raid by the Dillingers or some other bandit gang were seen here Sunday when several automobiles carrying Illinois license plates went through town from south to north on Court-st.

A Ford coupe carrying Illinois plates and carrying a woman dressed in man's clothing stopped at a south-end service station. A few minutes later another Illinois car carrying four dark-visaged men passed the same station, and a moment later a third automobile passed.

Deputy Sheriff Miller Fissell was notified and he called the radio station of the state highway patrol but has heard nothing since his call.

FEAR CROPS DOOMED

Survey Shows Many States Face Disaster

Believed to have established a May 20 record for Circleville, Dr. H. R. Clarke, weather observer, reported Sunday's temperature at 93 degrees.

Not satisfied with reaching that mark Sunday the mercury was again climbing Monday resting at 84 degrees at 9:45 a. m. then at 90 degrees at 12:30 p. m.

Weather bureau officials in Columbus were unable today to hazard a guess as to when a break can be expected in the heat wave that shattered records all over the state Sunday.

RAIN INTENSIFIES HEAT

Rains which spattered down last night and this morning in parts of Ohio failed to bring relief. Instead, they served to intensify the heat even more.

An all-time heat record of 90 was recorded in Columbus yesterday and at Cincinnati, the hottest

SOUTHAIRD IN WARNING

COLUMBUS, May 21.—Warning to "take the sun gradually" to avoid sunstroke was issued here today by Dr. H. G. Southard, chief of the state department of health, as the state sweltered under the hottest weather of the year.

Other sections of the state likewise reported record-breaking temperatures.

Farm experts predicted today that unless rain is forthcoming this week, crops throughout the state will be irreparably damaged. A water-shortage also is threatened.

DARROW ASKS NRA'S OUSTER

Charges Recovery Program Fosters Monopoly; Johnson Asks Board Ended.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—President Roosevelt was faced today with demands for scrapping his pet recovery program, or of disbanding the National Recovery board, set up by him to protect the interests of the "little fellow."

Recommendation for the abolition of the NRA and the substitution of socialism was made by Clarence Darrow, chairman of the board, while the scrapping of the board was demanded by Hugh S. Johnson, administrator of the president's National Industrial Recovery act.

Darrow, with William O. Thompson, his old law partner, after three months investigation, found the NRA posters monopoly and declared America is faced with the choice "between monopoly sustained by government, which is clearly the trend in the NRA; and a planned economy, which demands socialized ownership and control."

The entire board found: "A return to the anti-trust laws

Good Games Expected in Week's Softball "Sked"

Straw-board Given Edge Over Circleville Oils in Tonight's Contest With Walker Added to C. C. of A. Infield; Eshelman-Mecca Tilt Expected to Be Week's Highlight.

The Container Corporation ball team, reported augmented by the addition of Art Walker, Fox Post Office star, is the favorite to continue its winning ways tonight when it takes on the Circleville Oil team in the first of the week's softball games.

The tilt is booked for 6:30 p. m. The straw-board outfit with Pud Oliver doing the bulk of the pitching has not been defeated in two tries and Sunday afternoon had little difficulty turning back the Mecca team, 6-2, in a practice game.

The addition of Walker sets the team for the remainder of the year, apparently. Stevens, who has been playing short, goes behind the plate moving Don Brannon to the outfield. George Brungs plays third base, Walker, shortstop, Charlie Scott second, and Irv Trimmer, first base, with several aspirants to garden jobs. Since Walker lives outside the corporate limits of the city he was given a job before being permitted in the league—which adds another good ball player to the loop.

MAY USE RAY SMITH

Whether the Oils will make things interesting for the straw-boarders is not certain. The team has possibilities but certainly has not made the best of them to date. A 10-8 defeat by the Mecca was

With the Buckeye Athletic association meet scheduled this week-end Howard White, Circleville boy who has gained the monicker "Ohio Wesleyan's one man track team," faces plenty of work. * * * White took part in the most disastrous meet of his collegiate career last Saturday against Miami at Oxford. * * * The only event in which he scored was the high hurdles where he tied for first place. * * * He was "left at the post" in the low hurdles when he thought a false start was going to be called. * * *

We'll lay a dime on the line the Columbus Red Birds recall several of their optioned performers before the league race has progressed much farther—Since they apparently don't want Tom Angley it wouldn't be surprising to yours truly if Angley is called in and traded to some other ball club for a moundsman. * * * There are plenty of teams in AA ball who could use the hard-hitting backstopper. * * * Eddie Delker, too, may be used in a trade. * * *

The set-up of coaches in the Central Buckeye athletic association will remain the same through the 1934-35 race, it is believed, as is now operating. * * * Predicted as probable here a week ago, Coach Pete Herberholz has been retained for another year. * * * Eddie Carlisle is again back at Delaware. * * * No reports have been heard to the contrary concerning the return of Carlton Smith, Bexley; Ballenger, Westerville; Jerry Kingsmore, Marysville; Bill Zwick, Grandview. * * *

PERRY-TWP YOUTH SETS GOOD RECORD IN BROAD JUMPING

George Speakman, well-liked Perry-Twp student-athlete, has created quite a record this spring in track activities. This youth, who completed his high school athletic career at Columbus Saturday, in the Ohio high school competition, has scored in every meet in which he has been entered and in all but the state contest he took first in his pet event, the running broad jump.

Young Speakman, a son of Guy Speakman and a protégé of Harold 'Bud' Costlow, who becomes superintendent of the

GEORGE SPEAKMAN.

Atlanta school next fall, won the running broad jump in the county meet, then took it in much tougher competition at Delaware in the Ohio Wesleyan relay, and reached a climax in the district Class B meet at Columbus a week ago. Entering the state meet last week he was faced with mighty competition but after qualifying he took fifth place among the cream of the state Class B performers. The winning leap in this event was more than 21 feet.

The young man is one of Perry-Twp's best liked athletes. He has performed several years on the basketball team. His place in the athletic realm of the school will be difficult to fill next year.

Everett Landman, New Holland athlete, also scored in the state Class B meet taking fifth in the running high jump.

WILLIS' FRIEND DEAD

Word was received here Thursday of the death of Joseph E. Hoffines from a heart attack at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Rayman Weiser, in Toledo. Mr. Hoffines spent a number of years in Ashville. He was a carpenter by trade, but in later years was employed as a clerk in several hardware stores here. After the death of his wife, October 27, 1932, he resigned his position and left to make his home with his daughter and family. Deceased was a schoolmate and boyhood friend of the late United States Senator Frank B. Willis and upon the appearance of that gentleman at Ashville some years ago he enjoyed a most pleasant visit with his old time friend. Burial was made in Chesire cemetery in Delaware-co, Saturday afternoon.

Charles Nicholson and family have moved to the Cooper property on Randolph-st.

MILK TO CLIMB

Chicago faces a two cent per quart increase in milk prices. Their pasture withered by the broiling sun and hot winds, dairymen are being forced to buy grain to feed their herds.

A crop survey today revealed that Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, the Dakotas, Montana, Nebraska, Kansas and Minnesota are the states hardest hit by the prolonged drought. With the exception of rye, grain crops, hay crops and pasture in these states are practically ruined. Canning crops, such as beans, corn, tomatoes, have also suffered.

The fruit crops of Illinois and Michigan—mostly peaches, cantaloupe and grapes—will apparently be a failure, the survey revealed. A bumper peach crop in the southern states is forecast, however.

With rivers, creeks and water holes dried up and pasturage burned, cattlemen of the north-west and western states face the necessity of dumping their livestock on the market.

CAB DRIVERS 'OUT'

COLUMBUS, May 21.—Negotiations were opened here today in an effort to bring about an end to the strike of 800 union taxicab drivers which was started at midnight Saturday.

The strike was called by the taxicab drivers' union which demanded abolition of the cab rental system and a regular salary for drivers. It was reported that the drivers were seeking a wage of $15 a week.

Although union officials gave assurance that violence would not be resorted to by the striking drivers, police officials added special details in the downtown sections as a precaution.

6 DIE AT CROSSING

AKRON, May 21.—Three double funeral services were being planned today for the six victims of the grade crossing crash at suburban Barberton early yesterday.

Those killed were Mr. and Mrs. William O. Maske, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Alexander and Mr. and Mrs. John Causlin, all of Akron.

The three couples were riding in a small sedan when an Erie limited passenger train struck the automobile. Mrs. Alexander, who was driving, waited for a freight train to clear the crossing and then apparently drove into the path of the flyer.

WARNING

From the Mayor
to the Citizens and Housewives
of Circleville

THIS IS A WARNING to beware of persons posing as solicitors, salesmen or inspectors seeking admittance to homes. They SHOULD NOT BE ADMITTED UNTIL THEIR CREDENTIALS HAVE BEEN CHECKED UP AND VERIFIED THROUGH DEPENDABLE LOCAL FIRMS OR PERSONS.

IN MANY CASES strangers without verified and reliable credentials are "spotters" or locaters for professional criminals - and according to police records lack of caution on the part of the householders in admitting such strangers has often times resulted in costly property losses and bitter experiences.

DO NOT PAY CASH IN ADVANCE to strangers on any merchandise - as in a number of instances the customer has NEVER RECEIVED ANYTHING for the cash advanced - nor has any refund been made of the initial deposit.

DO NOT CASH CHECKS FOR STRANGERS or issue a check to a stranger as a down-payment on an order - often times these checks have been "altered" and later cashed by a third and innocent party.

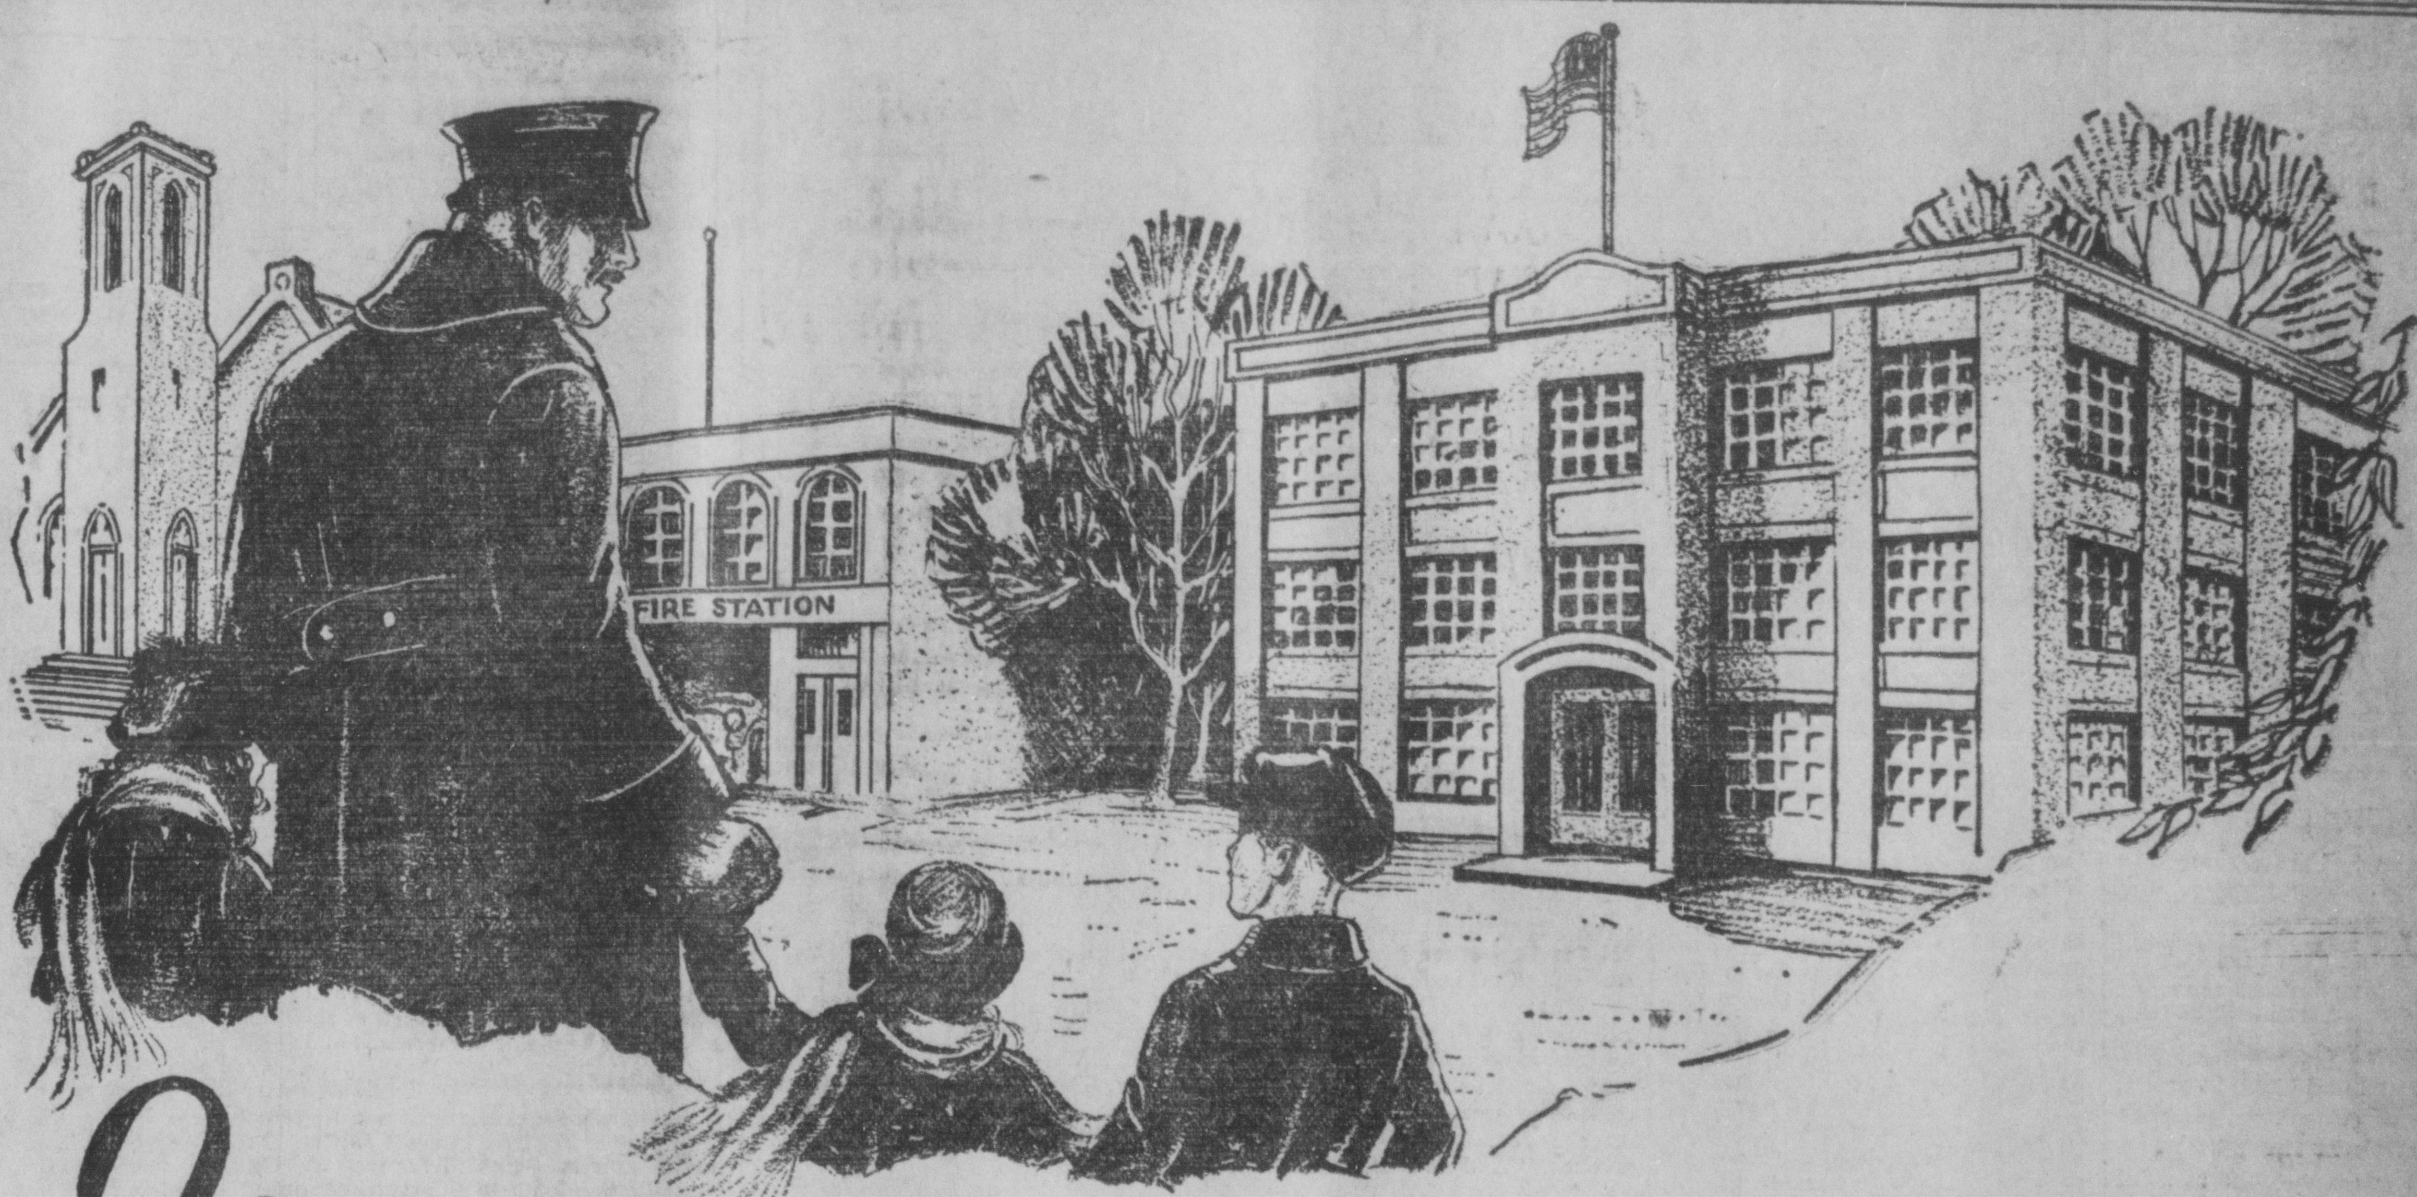

IT'S BETTER TO BE SAFE THAN SORRY - be SURE you know who the stranger is at your door before allowing him to enter your home. In case you are suspicious PHONE THE POLICE DEPARTMENT AT ONCE - Phone number 53 as we are anxious to co-operate with our citizens at all times. HIGH PRESSURE - FREE GIFT ARTISTS have been working the residence district of Circleville recently - selling ALL KINDS of merchandise - using the method of "something free" to gain admittance to the homes. This has been - according to police record - a scheme just to get inside the home - as in most cases there is nothing to be given away free.

One NEED NOT BE AFRAID of offending the honest salesman, solicitor or inspector representing a LOCAL FIRM - as THEY HAVE THEIR CREDENTIALS WITH THEM and welcome such investigation - (that is why they are required to carry credentials. Protect yourself - ASK FOR CREDENTIALS FROM LOCAL BUSINESS INSTITUTIONS.

Signed:

Wm. B. CADY

Mayor of Circleville.

Vandalism

THE season is here when many ordinarily respectable men and women become vandals.
The woods and green fields, with their many blossoms and fragrant plants, exert an appeal especially hard for the city dweller, cooped up with cement and brick to resist. It is refreshing to get out into the breeze and drink in these beauties.
But there are many who can not resist the temptation to go much further, by despoiling nature's handwork. They uproot bushes and break off blossoming branches in order to enrich their home for a day or two with their refreshing fragrance. Some of these despoilers even invade private orchards to wrench from a tree a blooming branch. Others confine the quenching of their desires for blooms and shrubbery to the woods.
Neither class is justified in its acts. The woods as well as orchards are private property, and many farmers do not relish even their wild plants being ruthlessly taken without a thank you. They are justified in the resentment they feel and in the resentment with which they regard these visitors.
Many city dwellers seem to regard as non-existent the rights of private property in the country. They would not think of invading a neighbor's lawn for the purpose of uprooting and carrying off any of his plants or of carrying off the fruits of his flowers. Let them go into the country, though, and they have no moral scruples against just despoiling the property of a rural dweller.
It is a form of vandalism that had existence in the days of the horse and which has been blessed with use of the automobile.
It appears to be no effective means of stopping it short of employing armed guards to protect farms and fields, which would be a drastic step that farmers hesitate to take.

Fore-sight is where a home-bather cuts the telephone wires neatly before getting into the tub.

The Pathfinder

NO man liveth unto himself alone. All need pathfinders. Newton, the scientist, said, "If I have achieved anything in science it is because I have stood on the shoulders of giants."
The young student takes it as a matter of course that he shall follow the old masters. If music, he follows at the feet of great guides—Bach, Beethoven, Chopin. If art, he seeks for hours before copies of the great masters—Raphael, Michelangelo, Murillo. The student who only knows the volume of the Pathfinder, but is happy to acknowledge the debt he owes these immortal artists.
So it is in business. The man who forges to the front in industry, commercial life is the man who is closely in touch with everything the leaders in his line are doing. Businessmen are not content to follow the pathfinder. The greater the man, the more likely does he acknowledge his debt to the man still greater than himself. Plato sat at the feet of Socrates, Aristotle at the feet of Plato. Raphael learned his art from Michelangelo, and Correggio from Raphael.
Nor is he a fool who feels himself to be self-sufficient. The best of men acknowledge their masters. There are in the galaxy of stars that shine by themselves without the added luster of loved glory.
It is not weakness to have a pathfinder, but rather a mark of sense.

SYNOPSIS

Stanley Paige, beautiful, young society girl, is left penniless when her lawyer speculates with her money and loses. Stanley, however, cares little for the money, feeling that she has everything in the love of fascinating Drew Armitage. But when Drew breaks their engagement saying it would be impossible to marry on his income, she is heartbroken. Rather than accept aid from her wealthy friends, Stanley rents an inexpensive furnished room and disappears from her exclusive circle to try and make her own way. Her friends agree that a better way would have been to marry handsome Perry Deverest, but Stanley cannot forget Drew. One day, she meets John Harmon Northrup, struggling young author. A strong friendship ensues and they become very necessary to one another. John Harmon is in love with Stanley but refrains from telling her because of Drew. Stanley loses her position. John Harmon wishes things were "different" so she would not have to work, but will not commit himself further. Stanley assures him she does not care to go back to her old life because of the terms—marriage or charity.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN

"I wish you could stay here, Stanley, right here in this room, before this fire, always!"
John Harmon buried his face suddenly in his hands, his hands were trembling. He hadn't meant to say it, heaven help him, he hadn't meant to. The words had tumbled out of his heart into the room.
It was very quiet for a space. The log in the grate crumbled into a thousand scarlet fragments, the clock on the marble mantel ticked mechanically. Stanley sat very still and stared at John Harmon's bent head. She thought that his hair was like a very little boy's hair, soft and sort of shining, and that it clung to his head thickly. She wanted to lean forward and run her fingers through it, she wanted to lean forward and take his head in her hands and draw it back until it rested on her breast. She wanted to hold it there and kiss his lips; not as she had kissed Drew—with passion and desire and young abandon, but gently, with tenderness and wishfulness and a sort of beautiful understanding.
"Why don't you ask me to, John Harmon?" she said softly, her voice quite steady, her eyes on the fire.
John Harmon dropped his hands from his face, he looked at her slowly, his eyes filled with a sort of frightened joy and shy disbelief. "And if I did ask you to, Stanley?" His voice shook ridiculously, but his eyes clung to hers unflinchingly.
"I think I'd like to stay here in this room, before this fire, with you, John Harmon—always." She gave him her eyes now, and her hands.
"You mean—what do you mean, Stanley?" He took her hands, held them tightly.
"I seem to be asking you to marry me, darling."
"You mean—you'd marry me, Stanley?"
"Kiss me, John Harmon—and don't look like that. I can't bear it!" He reached up and drew her into his arms. Kissed her mouth hungrily but with a certain sweet restraint. "Please heaven, I'll never make you anything but happy, Stanley. I couldn't bear it any other way!"
"It won't be any other way, John Harmon." She stirred in her arms, held him away from her gently to look into his eyes. "You understand—about Drew? This hour ought to belong to just—us. But I have to be sure you understand about him. I can't give you what I gave him, darling. What I feel for you is different. I'm sorry, John Harmon, I wish I could give you that other love. Are you sure you can be content with—less?"
He looked back at her undimly, his arms tightening about her slim shoulders. "I think I understand, Stanley. Are you trying to tell me that you still love him?"
"Part of me does. I've tried to deny it—but things have got to be straight between us, haven't they? We couldn't go on any other way. Do you want what I can give you—knowing what I can't?"
For a moment John Harmon closed his eyes, pressed her face hard against his shoulder. When he spoke his voice was steady, beautifully sure of itself. "That you can give me anything at all, however little, is more happiness than I ever expected to know. What you feel for this other man is between you and him and doesn't concern me. What you feel for me is yours and mine and is precious to me beyond words."
Against his shoulder Stanley's eyes were wet with sudden tears, but she answered him clearly and at once. "And to me, John Harmon."

They spent two confusing, exciting weeks haunting second-hand shops, uncrating boxes that John Harmon's Aunt Martha sent down from Vermont, and making small but important purchases. It took Stanley four days of intensive shopping to find a wing chair that was exactly what she wanted at a price she could afford. Chintz for the three high windows demanded an even longer search. Unpacking the boxes from Vermont was perhaps the most exciting thing of all. Aunt Martha, at John Harmon's request, had sent down some lovely pieces of old handmade furniture and several softly faded, really beautiful, old hooked rugs. There was a pink tea set, too, that had belonged to John Harmon's great-grandmother and a pewter teapot and some quaint, twisted candlesticks.
After a great deal of discussion, they had decided to rent a small adjoining room and bath. This gave John Harmon a workroom. In there they put his table with its typewriter and a litter of manuscript paper and scribbling pads. In there, too, they put the cot which had been John Harmon's bed and the bureau which had held his clothes. It was to be his room, in which he could work unmolested and behind a closed door.
"It's an added expense," he had agreed, when they were discussing it, "but it's out of the question, asking you to live in one room with a typewriter and a struggling author! You'd walk out on me inside of a week."
"In that case," Stanley had conceded hurriedly, "let's take it by all means!"
They were married quietly three days later. Very quietly and with no one but an absent-minded looking minister and two frankly bored house servants to witness the ceremony. But to Stanley, standing, straight and slim, her chin lifted slightly, her eyes clear and calm, beside John Harmon, the service was very real—and very sweet. She was marrying John Harmon—she was promising to love, to honor and to obey him. She held his hand tightly, and when the minister had quietly finished she smiled at him. It was a slow, quietly comprehending smile. It made John Harmon's throat ache sharply, made his eyes blur, suddenly and annoyingly.
"You're so sweet, Stanley," he told her, in the moment that they were left alone, in the faintly soft glow of the little vestry before they stepped out into the clear, November twilight. "I can't believe that you are going to belong to me. I'm almost afraid to believe it."

"Don't be," she told him quickly and caught his face between her slim hands, and pulled it down so that she might kiss his lips.
They stood so, for a brief instant, wrapped in each other's arms, then they went out into the November twilight.
A sharp wind whistled around corners and scuttled up alleys carrying with it bits of paper and a scurry of dead leaves; lights twinkled in shops and houses and on street corners; and people hurried homeward, arms full of bundles, coat collars turned up, faces lifted to the night, tired but oddly eager.
"I like this time of day," Stanley said softly, slipping her fingers through John Harmon's, "it holds a sort of promise—of food and rest and companionship, don't you think so?"
"I think I'm always going to like any time of day or night that has you in it," answered John Harmon huskily. Then more matter-of-factly: "But isn't a marriage always celebrated with a feast? Where do we dine?"
They decided on Lisette's where they could have sweetbreads à la Napoli and watch a lazy cat stretch its sleek blackness before an open fire. It was a place they had discovered early in the fall and they had haunted it regularly ever since.
Tonight they crossed the Square and turned up an alley and went down shallow brick steps into a room filled with the warmth of much candlelight, a sputtering fire on a wide stone hearth, and the smell of cooking food.
"Last week we came here and we weren't married," Stanley thought, preceding John Harmon's tall figure to their own particular corner, "and now we are. I'm going home with him tonight—"

"We mustn't be so extravagant very often," she said, trying to make her voice sound light-hearted and only succeeding in making it sound thin and sweet and rather shaky. "I'm sure I can manage the cooking quite easily. It's really simple enough when you have once learned what to boil and what to fry!"
"We'll eat out a lot. I can't let you in for too much of that sort of thing. It isn't as if you were used to it," said John Harmon, and he thought, "she is frightened—but then, so am I. Badly."

"It isn't always being used to things that makes them easy. Can't you see that, John Harmon? It's wanting to do them, don't you think?"
"Perhaps. All the same, I wish I could do more for you—a better place to live, for instance."
Stanley looked him straight in the eye, shook her head slowly. "You don't really mean that, darling. You know perfectly well you'd hate living anywhere else. You'd hate with an elevator and a modern apartment and a refrigerator and a telephone! Besides, we found something rather wonderful in that old room—no other place can ever give us quite as much!"
"When you talk like that, Stanley, you make it very hard for me to eat my dinner."
"I'm sorry. I won't any more. I'll talk about—things. Don't you think the chintz curtains are very, very successful, John Harmon?"
"Exceptionally so," replied her husband gravely, and they both burst into laughter. Stanley had demanded an answer to this question every day for a week.
"They're so gay and defiant looking—I'm quite sure they don't mind the old wall paper and the funny ceiling. It's going to be fun living with them, I expect."

Diagnosing A Child's Ailments

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

THERE is a popular belief that gritting the teeth during sleep is a sure sign of worms. Another alleged symptom of this affliction is the habit of picking the nose. Undoubtedly quantities of unnecessary "worm medicine" have been prescribed by fond mothers and grandparents who regarded these symptoms as sure evidence of worms.
The child who is underweight despite a good appetite, who grits his teeth, is irritable and cross, may not be the victim of worms at all, but may have some other disorder. Just what is wrong can be determined only by a visit to the doctor. He will not be able to give an opinion until a complete examination of the young patient has been made.

Many a young child has been dosed with all kinds of worm medicines. Despite this treatment, he continues to grit the teeth in his sleep. Of course, if he really had worms, a habit may have been formed, but in most cases, the symptoms are really due to an infection from diseased and enlarged tonsils.
Not only do they cause these annoying nervous symptoms, but the poisons absorbed from infected tonsils may retard the child in his growth and development. It is amazing to see the rapid recovery and gain in weight these children make after the diseased tonsils are removed.
Gritting the teeth and picking the nose are spoken of as "reflex symptoms." As you see, they can be traced to any center of disturbance within the body. Of course, I do not mean to imply that worms cannot be that source of irritation in young children. Nor do I mean to say that all children who are irritable, underweight, pick their noses and grit their teeth, are sufferers from diseased tonsils.

What I wish to emphasize is the importance of a visit to the doctor to determine accurately the seat of the disorder. Painful as it may be to them, you should disregard the advice of well-meaning friends and never give any worm medicine to your child unless it is prescribed by a physician.

Worms should be suspected when a child complains of discomfort around the navel, colicky pains and nausea. Before administering any medicine, the doctor will make careful examination and if worms are present, prescribe treatment.

Round worms are the ones most commonly met in children. They are of a pale-brownish color and may be ten to twelve inches long. They resemble the ordinary earthworm.
The "pinworm," or "threadworm," is another worm afflicting children. As a rule, this is about a quarter of an inch long, white and resembles a little piece of thread. These worms cause great irritation of the tissues at the exit from the body.
There are many other forms of worms. Few cases exist without discovery of the worms. If in doubt, consult with your doctor. Do not delay treatment of this affliction.

PATTERN 9037

Nothing in the world will be smarter this summer than white for either of these materials here is a perfect pattern. Imagine the caped shoulders in one of them—wouldn't they fall beautifully? And the little jacket—have you noticed it down there at the lower left?—wouldn't it be exactly right? But you needn't discard the design if you have in mind a really sheer fabric—it would be chic that way too, in monotype or print.
Pattern 9037 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 4 1/2 yards 39 inch fabric.
Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern.
A beautiful, complete collection of Summer Clothes is shown in the NEW SUMMER EDITION of the MARIAN MARTIN PATTERN BOOK. This book will help you plan a stunning vacation wardrobe. Clever beach ensembles, charming costumes for the garden, style suggestions for the Summer bride and her attendants and sun suits for children are among the special features. SEND FOR YOUR COPY TODAY. CENTS, BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

SET CENTENNIAL DATES

A special meeting of the Centennial committees of the Civic association was held in the city hall for the purpose of setting the dates for the Centennial and Aug. 16, 17 and 18, 1934, were chosen.
No definite program was outlined but plans were discussed and some prominent speaker will be secured.
Historical parades and many interesting features will be provided for the pleasure and amusement of the many visitors anticipated. It was voted to hold a meeting on the evening of the second Tuesday of the month.
The History of Kingston, which David Crouse is writing, is nearing completion and will be ready for the publishers. This history will be both interesting and attractive, it will be illustrated and will contain 100 pages. The Centennial is quite interesting to the former residents as a number have been heard from asking for the history and dates. All committees are functioning and plans are being completed and a fine time is anticipated.
Ed. Wenis, of the Chillicothe Gazette, in behalf of the Historical Society of Ross-co has offered the society's facilities toward making this affair a grand success. The former committees have been revised and a large number, at least 25, new names will be added to the new list, which will be announced in a few days.

Miss Mary Harpster returned on Thursday afternoon after a week's visit with her sister, Mrs. George Gill and husband near Stoutsville.

The Ne Plus Ultra Sunday school class of the M. E. church will hold its regular meeting on Thursday evening, May 24, at the home of Miss Mary L. Harpster. The committee will be Mrs. John Davis, Mrs. William A. Raulb, Mrs. George Wright, Mrs. A. U. Brundidge and Miss Harpster.
Kenneth Reynolds who has been in a CWA camp in California, returned home on Wednesday.
Mr. and Mrs. Harry Elliott, of Columbus, spent Sunday with her father, Ephraim Ross and Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Ross and family. Mr. Ephraim Ross accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Elliott when they returned to their home.

Girl Scout News

Girl Scout troop No. 4 held its regular meeting in the basement of the Presbyterian church, Saturday at 2 p. m.
We are taking up nature work and find it very interesting. We sang a number of songs and played games, then we went to patrol corners where we practiced signaling and first aid.
We held an investiture service during which Norma Jean Betts, Helen Beck and Margie Rice received their pins. We closed with taps and the radio handclasp.

SOME GOOD IN ALL
Beneath the coarse and dirty skin
And shabby clothes which hang on him
There is some good in every man;
You'll never miss it if you can
See deeper than the rough outside;
The finer worth these often hide;
The heart, the soul reside within
Where man a critic's never been
Or even looked with piercing eye—
He could not see them if he'd try.
So much behind exterior rough;
So much of gold and priceless stuff;
Way down within the throbbing breast
Are things which God has loved the best;
Yes, loved them more than fancy clothes
And all the pride which with them goes.
Nor does He see the calloused skin
As He looks thro' it, far within;
In every man there is some good
Which we can see if we but would.

AT THE CLIFTONA

Freaks, mummies, monsters and ghosts—for many years they have stalked across the screen.
Now, with the exploits of "X" in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new hair-raiser, "Mystery of Mr. X," which comes to the Cliftona Theatre, Tuesday and Wednesday, a new trial of horror has been opened.
"X" is a new type of fiend. Neither overgrown like Frankenstein, nor deformed like the Hunchback of Notre Dame, his is, until the final sequence, a sinister shadow.
Robert Montgomery heads the picture's cast and prominent roles are filled by Elizabeth Allan, Lewis Stone, Ralph Forbes, Henry Stephenson, Forrester Harvey, Ivan Simpson, Leonard Mudie, Alec B. Francis and Charles Irwin.

AT THE GRAND

"One is Guilty," second of a series of Columbia mystery productions, will open at the Grand Theater Monday. As in "Before Midnight," first of this group of detective pictures, Ralph Bellamy is featured as "Inspector Trent," a shrewd, implacable sleuth.

COUNTRY CLUB'S OPENING DANCE IS BIG SUCCESS

A huge success was the formal opening of the Pickaway Country club dance hall, "The Old Barn," Saturday evening, where a public dance will be sponsored every Saturday night by the club House committee.

The dance hall is in the barn near the club house, which has been remodeled and decorated. The "rustic" interior has been retained with old fashioned lanterns dimly lighting the room. Even on the warmest evenings it will be a cool and delightful place for dancing because of the number of large doors.

Approximately 100 couples enjoyed the dance on the opening night. Larry Blankenship and his orchestra from Chillicothe, provided the program of dance music from 9 until 1 o'clock.

The House committee in charge of the affair and those to be held in the future included Hildebrand Jones, chairman, Mrs. Paul Adkins, Mrs. Tom A. Renick, Miss Ann Bennett, A. L. Wilder and William D. Radcliffe.

Among the number of out-of-town guests present were Miss Jane Erown, Miss Anne Hathaway, Miss Virginia Ballentine, Miss Helen Fetheroff, Grace Jardine, Miss Mary Seney, George Elsass, John D. Tomlinson, Jack Favcett, Miss Jane Allison, Miss Kirkpatrick, Miss Mary Keating, Miss Ruth Hollis, and Nelson Kelenberger of Chillicothe.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dunlap Jr., Miss Mary Radcliffe, William Radcliffe of Williamsport; Mr. and Mrs. Stoddard Raper, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Yerges and R. D. Workman of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cooke of Los Angeles, Cal; Mr. and Mrs. George W. Connelly and Sheldon Pratt of Cleveland.

Claude Tatman, Springfield; Paul Maddux, Dayton; Miss Melba Pierce and Miss Doris McAdam of New Holland; Wile, Tootle and D. K. Anderson of Clarksburg, and Miss Lolabel Black of Lancaster.

WILLIAMSPORT ALUMNI HAVE ANNUAL BANQUET

A delightful affair in the Williamsport high school Saturday evening was the annual banquet of the Alumni association in charge of the president, Mrs. Clarence McAbee, of Wayne-twp.

The room was beautiful with locust blossoms and baskets of iris. The school colors, blue and gold, were carried out in the attractive decorations.

Nineteen graduates and Supt. and Mrs. Harold Bowers, Mr. and Mrs. George Miller, Miss Helen Betts, Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Moore, William Radcliffe and Mrs. McAbee were seated at the honor guests' table. The prettily appointed tables were centered with blue and gold candles and blue iris.

Mrs. Kenneth List was named president of the association for the ensuing year. A program in the auditorium after the nominating committee's report consisted of two piano solos by Miss June West, this city, who played "Gavotte Rustique," a quaint old French dance, in quadruple time with a rural setting; and "Egyptian Girl," rich in haunting minors and characteristically Oriental. Both were composed by Frank R. Meier, of Columbus.

Miss Marvene Wallace, this city, was charming in a modern toe dance and tap dance. Miss Elizabeth Roundhouse was her accompanist.

Three trumpet duets by Robert and Galen Carter concluded the program.

Relieved by California's Blow at Kidnaping

Prompt solution of Gettler kidnaping and rapid dispensation of California justice upon the kidnapers took a big load from the minds of many stellar citizens of Hollywood. It is now generally believed that the "snatch" racket has received a death blow in the Golden State. Among the stars who were threatened at various times are Mae West, who took up machine gunnery as a protection; Spencer Tracy, who was warned that his children were in danger if he did not pay; Bing Crosby, actor-singer, and Baby Leroy, youngest and brightest star in the film firmament. Marlene Dietrich, German star, did not have much confidence in regular forces of the law. She maintained a strong private guard to protect her young daughter and once spoke of sending the child to Germany for safety.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

N. R. A. Disintegrates as Those in Authority Helplessly Look on

WASHINGTON—the most pitiful spectacle in the Nation's Capital these days is the slow dry-rot of the NRA.

Gradually the organization which once was heralded in the headlines as typifying the New Deal has been falling into decay. And the tragedy, from Roosevelt's point of view, is this very thing—that the NRA so typifies the New Deal, Complete Blue Eagle disintegration will have serious political consequences.

Yet those responsible for the Blue Eagle stand by, apparently powerless to prevent the old bird from collapsing. No one gives it the hypodermic—probably because it already has had too many.

In the end, the NRA will be chalked up as one of the less than putting faith in a military man in peacetime. The General revealed in the excitement of organizing the NRA, who once was looked upon almost as a second Messiah, was a great hero in the hurly-burly of war, but not in the slow grind of peace.

Comrades

Friends of former President Hoover are relating an amusing anecdote about his recent automobile trip through the Midwest.

According to the tale, Mr. Hoover, and his party, stopped at a railroad junction lunch-room one afternoon for a bite. They seated themselves at the counter and gave their orders.

A man, attired in overalls, came in and sat down next to Mr. Hoover.

"Travelling through?" he inquired companionably.

"Yes," the ex-President replied. "How are things around here?"

"Well, they could be better."

"What do you do?" Mr. Hoover asked.

"Nothing now, I'm unemployed," the man answered. "What do you do?"

Edison's Son

In white shirt-sleeves in a bare-walled office of the National Emergency Council sits Charles Edison, son of the famous inventor and one of the richest men in America.

He holds down a $6,000-a-year job under the New Deal. As an expert in heavy-industries economics, he is running the President's program for housing development.

A friend, surprised to find him taking part in the Administration in such a comparatively minor capacity, ventured:

"I can't understand it, Charles. What is a general of industry doing in a government job like this?"

Handsome, grey-haired Edison smiled:

"Well, if I'm to be a general of industry it seems nice to have industry to be general of. And the way things were going before this Administration came into power, there wouldn't have been any very long. I thought I'd pitch in and see what I could do to help."

Defiant

Professor Rex Tugwell is a firm believer in the old military adage that the "best defensive is an aggressive offense."

Recently nominated by President Roosevelt for promotion to be Undersecretary of Agriculture, Tugwell has come under fire by Old Guard Senate Democrats, secretly anti-Brain Trust, on the ground that he is not a dirt farmer.

Friends have been seriously counselling Tugwell that he assume a more rural mode in his attire.

To such advice he has not only refused to give ear, but has become more dapper than ever. On the slightest provocation the handsome young intellectual now appears in frock coat and silk hat.

INCENDIARISM DENIED IN STOCKYARD BLAZE

Three Inquiries Being Made; 13 Major Buildings Lost in Fire

ESTIMATE IS GREAT Strive to Resume Business As Usual Today

CHICAGO, May 21.—An army of laborers toiled in the fire-ravaged stockyards today in a desperate effort to provide facilities for handling almost 50,000 head of livestock, a normal Monday's receipts, even as firemen continued to pour water on smouldering ruins to prevent a resumption of the holocaust which has already taken a toll of between ten and fifteen million dollars in property loss.

After praising firefighters for their heroic work in halting the blaze which for a time threatened the entire city, packing company officials began taking inventory.

13 LARGE BUILDINGS LOST

Thirteen major buildings—the nerve center of the world's greatest live stock market—are gutted, and over a hundred smaller buildings and homes completely destroyed.

Homes of at least 35 families are completely destroyed, while many others were damaged and are uninhabitable.

The street car lines, elevated lines, telephone company, gas company, water company suffered heavily.

The city fire department suffered losses estimated at almost $300,000. The engine house in the

BODY DISCOVERED

CHICAGO, May 21.—The charred body of an unidentified man was taken from the ruins of the Union Stock yards today, shattering hopes of fire department officials for a record of no lives lost, the body was found in the southwest corner of the yards, near the spot where the flames first burst forth Saturday afternoon.

yards burned to the ground, eight pieces of equipment were destroyed, and hundreds of feet of hose.

More than 100 insurance companies will divide losses in excess of $5,000,000, adjusters estimated today.

Three separate inquiries into the cause of the disaster were being conducted. Rumors that the fire was of incendiary origin as a result of labor trouble in the yards, were vehemently denied however. William J. O'Connor, assistant general manager of the Union Stock yards, said, "I can positively say that there is no foundation to these stories."

VISITORS KEPT OUT

A cordon of police surrounded the fire-stricken area today, keeping spectators from the stricken area and the danger of falling walls and gas main explosions. At

WRECKS HIS HOME, CLIFTON IN JAIL

Turney Clifton, S. Court-st., was held in the county jail Monday awaiting a hearing on charges of malicious destruction of property and intoxication. Whether the hearing will be in Eveland's court or Mayor W. B. Cady's was not determined.

Clifton allegedly wrecked the interior of his well-furnished S. Court-st. residence. He tore curtains from their places, smashed furniture, tore his wife's clothing to shreds and even tore the clothing from her person, destroyed her spectacles, and pulled pictures from the wall throwing them to the floor. BONUS ISSUE MAY DELAY CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, May 21.—A move by the veterans' bloc to force a Senate vote on the Bonus issue today threatened to upset the administration's plans for adjourning Congress June 5.

Final enactment of tariff, silver, housing, bank deposit insurance and farm licensing legislation constituted the administration program for the 14 remaining legislative days. If the bonus bill were added to this program, the adjournment date might be postponed another week.

Any delay in adjournment would give the House liberals more time in which to force a vote on the

Sea Monster, Thirteen Feet Long, is Caught

LONDON, May 21.—The mystery of the famed monster of Loch Ness was believed by many to have been solved today as the result of the capture of a strange sea creature by a fisherman in Moray Firth, Scottish bay just a few miles away from Loch Ness.

The captured specimen was 13 feet long and one foot wide. It was of a silvery gray color and had a thin, sharply-pointed head and large eyes. It corresponded in many respects with the detailed descriptions of the Loch Ness monster given by more than 100 eye-witnesses during the past several months.

People flocked from miles around to view the Moray Firth beast, proudly displayed by its fisherman-captain, James White.

BOMB INJURES FEDERAL POST OFFICE CLERK

Diabolical Device Explodes in Main Office of U. S. Department

ADDRESS IS HUNTED

Employee Loses Hand Inspecting Package

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Two men were injured—one critically—today when a bomb sent through the mails exploded in the main post office.

The hand of Myron Genung, a clerk, was blown away when he opened the package containing the infernal machine. His condition is critical.

Encased in a large volume entitled "Life Among the Lowly," from which the pages had been cut, only the fact that the package was improperly addressed had kept it from being delivered. The addressee was not revealed.

SENT IN NEW YORK

The bomb was said to have been sent from New York, but several hours after the explosion postal inspectors reported they had been unable to determine to whom the package had been addressed.

Today it was taken to the "dead letter" division to be examined. Genung opened it. A reverberating roar resulted, shattering heavy plate glass windows and rocking the building noticeably.

Dazed, Genung was momentarily motionless. Then, "My God, my hand!" he shrieked.

Clutching the stump with his other hand, he staggered into the corridor and collapsed. A tourniquet was applied immediately and he was rushed to a hospital.

A negro employee—the only person near Genung at the time—was cut on the arm by flying bits of the bomb.

Postal inspectors said the bomb was one of the most diabolically clever devices they had ever seen. They had never examined, and was undoubtedly the work of an expert.

A trigger was so arranged as to be released when the package was opened. This movement turned a switch which hooked up a dry battery. Current from the battery quickly brought a wire to white heat. This hot wire ignited the explosives and the explosion followed.

Strange Autos Cause Concern Here Sunday

Possibilities of a raid by the Dillingers or some other bandit gang were seen here Sunday when several automobiles carrying Illinois license plates swung through town from south to north on Court-st.

CHARGES RECOVERY PROGRAM

Foster, Monopoly; Johnson Asks Board Ended.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—President Roosevelt was faced today with demands for scrapping his pet recovery program, or of discarding the National Recovery board, set up by him to protect the interests of the "little fellow." Recommendation for the abolition of the NRA and the substitution of socialism was made by Clarence Darrow, chairman of the board, while the scrapping of the board was demanded by Hugh S. Johnson, administrator of the president's National Industrial Recovery act.

Darrow, with William O. Thompson, his old law partner, after three months investigation, found the NRA posters monopoly and declared America is faced with the choice "between monopoly sustained by government, which is clearly the trend in the NRA; and a planned economy, which demands socialized ownership and control."

The entire board found: "A return to the anti-trust laws"

FEAR CROPS DOOMED

Survey Shows Many States Face Disaster

Believed to have established a May 20 record for Circleville, Dr. H. R. Clarke, weather observer, reported Sunday's temperature at 93 degrees.

Not satisfied with reaching that mark Sunday the mercury was again climbing Monday resting at 84 degrees at 9:45 a. m. then at 86 degrees at 12:30 p. m.

Weather bureau officials in Columbus were unable today to hazard a guess as to when a break can be expected in the heat wave that shattered records all over the state Sunday.

RAIN INTENSIFIES HEAT

Rains which scattered down last night and this morning in parts of Ohio failed to bring relief, instead, they served to intensify the heat even more.

An all-time heat record of 96 was recorded in Columbus yesterday and at Cincinnati, the hottest.

SOUTHAIR IN WARNING

COLUMBUS, May 21.—Warning to "take the sun gradually" to avoid sunburn was issued here today by H. G. Southair, chief of the state department of health, in the state weather office, the hottest weather of the year.

Dr. Southair also urged that precautions be taken to eat the right food and to obtain proper rest.

May 20 in the 88 years since United States weather records began, keeping temperature registered, The Clifton Observatory in Clifton touched 92 degrees.

Other sections of the state likewise reported record-breaking temperatures.

Farm experts predicted today that unless rain is forthcoming this week, crops throughout the state will be irreparably damaged. A water-shortage also is threatened.

Good Games Expected in Week's Softball "Sked"

Board Given Edge Over Circleville Oils in Tonight's Contest With Walker Added to C. C. of A. Infield; Eshelman-Mecca Tilt Expected to Be Week's Highlight.

Container Corporation ball reported augmented by the addition of Art Walker, Fox Post star, is the favorite to continue its winning ways tonight. It takes on the Circleville team in the first of the week's all games.

The tilt is booked for 6:30 p. m. in a straw-board outfit with Oliver doing the bulk of the hitting. He has not been defeated in series and Sunday afternoon. Little difficulty turning back Mecca team, 6-2, in a practice game.

The addition of Walker sets the stage for the remainder of the season. Stevens, who has been playing short, goes behind the moving Don Brannon to the field. George Brungs plays base, Walker shortstop, Scott second, and Irv Miller, first base, with several ants to garden jobs. Since the Eshelman team showed a lot of power last week but has a real problem on its hands against the Meccas with Vlerebome on the kopie.

Wednesday finds the Given Oils and the Purina Chows mixing in an effort to gain their first victory of the year. The result is a toss-up with the colored team having the edge if there is any.

IMLER GETS CATCHER

The hard hitting McClarren Meats play the Circleville City dairy Thursday in what should be a good tilt. Shorty Imler, of the dairies, has added Louie Vining, a good catcher, and seems to be on the road to a strong team. His outfit looked in places last week and should develop quickly with a reliable receiver. It is possible Bob Maloney will be on the hill for Thursday's fray.

An effort will be made starting tonight to have the collection taken every evening to help bolster the league's treasury.

MAY USE RAY SMITH

Whether the Oils will make an interesting for the straw-boards is not certain. The team possibilities but certainly has the best of them to date.

PERRY-TWP YOUTH SETS GOOD RECORD IN BROAD JUMPING

George Speakman, well-known Perry-Twp student-athlete, has created quite a record this spring in track activities. This youth, who completed his high school athletic career at Columbus, Saturday, in the Ohio high school competition, has scored in every meet in which he has been entered and in all but the state contest he took first in his jet event, the running broad jump.

Young Speakman, a son of Carl Speakman and a protégé of Harold "Bud" Costlow, who becomes superintendent of the

GEORGE SPEAKMAN.

Atlanta school next fall, won the running broad jump in the county meet, then took it in much tougher competition at Delaware in the Ohio Wesleyan relays, and reached a climax in the district Class B meet at Columbus a week ago. Entering the state meet last week he was faced with mighty competition but after qualifying he took fifth place among the cream of the state Class B performers. The winning leap in this event was more than 21 feet.

The young man is one of Perry-Twp's best liked athletes. He has performed several years on the basketball team. His place in the athletic realm of the school will be difficult to fill next year.

Everett Landman, New Holland athlete, also scored in the state Class B meet taking fifth in the running high jump.

Dean Bests Hubbell As Frisch Triples With Sacks Loaded; Cubs Beaten.

NEW YORK, May 21.—Climaxing a sport that has netted them 16 wins in their last 20 starts, the St. Louis Cardinals were perched in second place in the National league race today, only one game behind leading Cubs.

Yesterday the Red Birds handed Carl Hubbell, the league's premier pitcher, his worst beating in many a moon. Thirty-nine thousand fans, the largest crowd of the year at the Polo grounds, saw the Cards nick the Giants' mound ace for nine runs in five innings, after which Carlos retired in favor of a pinch hitter. Frisch's triple with the bases full was the big noise. Dizzy Dean went the route for the winners and won under wraps, 9 to 5.

BROOKLYN GAINING
Van Mungo, fire ball hurler of the Dodgers, tamed the Cubs, 5 to 1, for his fifth triumph of the year. It was Brooklyn's fourth win in five starts.

The Phillies put on one of their old-time slugfests, shelling out four Pittsburgh pitchers for 23 hits and burying the Bugs under a 16 to 4 landslide. Don Hurst, benched last week for poor stickwork, led the swat parade with five hits.

Ben Cantwell of the Braves and St. Johnson, hard-luck hurler of the Reds, hooked up in a gaudy pitching duel which ended in the tenth inning when Jordon of the Braves tripped and McCann singled for a 1 to 0 win. Cantwell held the Reds to four hits.

Men's high score for the week was 253 by Bob Herdman while Mrs. Winifred Becher had high ladies' score, 166.

Don Wolf set the alley record Saturday evening smacking 276. He had a spare start then nine straight strikes and a spare. The previous mark of 168 was held by Charles Weidinger with Raymond Smith one pin behind that.

SILVER MESSAGE IS READY FOR SOLONS

WASHINGTON, May 21.—President Roosevelt today completed and prepared to send to congress a special message sanctioning mandatory establishment of silver as 25 per cent of the nation's metallic currency reserve.

AT EDITORS' MEETING
Glen Gelb, editor of The Herald, attended a meeting of the Blue Pencil club of Ohio, an organization of newspaper editors, at the Faculty club on the Ohio State university grounds, Sunday.

Speakers were Nathaniel R. Howard, of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, and John W. Bricker, attorney general.

Officers elected for the fiscal year were Ray White, of the Millersburg Farmer-Hub, president; Johnny Green, of the Portsmouth Times, vice president; and Norval Neil Luxon, of the O. S. U. school of journalism, secretary.

INCENDIARISM

least 200,000 persons visited the devastated section yesterday.

The fire began late Saturday afternoon, probably from a carelessly thrown match or cigarette stub officials said, in a live stock pen, quickly burned its way to a hay barn and was out of control before firemen arrived. Fanned by a brisk southwest wind and kindled by drouth-seared frame buildings, the blaze spread rapidly through the vast stock yards and for hours threatened the entire city.

All firemen on leave and off duty hurriedly mobilized, and 75 per cent of the city's fire-fighting equipment was manned by 1600 firemen.

But so intense was the heat the firemen were beaten back by the voracious flames, forced to concentrate on stopping the spread of the conflagration.

Police warned householders in the residential section just east of the yards to evacuate their homes, as the flames leaped across Halsted-st and started across the city. Fortunately the wind died down and firemen were able to stop the onslaught of the hungrily roving flames. But not before several blocks of homes and a number of business structures were destroyed.

HEAT MELTED RAILS
So terrific was the heat, the steel framework of the hungrily roving structure wilted like a wax candle, steel rails running through the yards melted like butter.

Although 1100 persons were treated for burns and injuries, no lives were reported lost.

The brunt of the great property loss is borne by the Union Stock Yards company estimated at between five and six million dollars. Company officials said today 80 per cent of their loss is covered by insurance.

Among the major structures which are nothing but shells of blackened brick and skeletons of twisted steel are the huge pavilion, annual scene of the international Livestock exposition, the new Exchange building which housed commission men; the stock yards inn; the Saddle and Siroin club, world-famous for its stocks; the Swift and Armour cattle buyers office buildings; the Pure Bred records building.

The Drovers National bank, located outside the yards, suffered a $300,000 loss, the Illinois Bell telephone company a similar amount.

Transportation into the yards by the elevated and surface lines was resumed on a normal schedule early today. Fine shanties were housing of the commission men.

O. T. Henkle, general manager of the Union Stock yards company, said today that a thorough survey of the yards will be made before permanent reconstruction is begun.

REPLACING BARN

William Litten has been employed this week in placing a stock barn in position on the Jerome Peters farm in Madison-Twp, which was moved four feet off its foundation in a most disastrous wind storm which visited the section recently. Other out buildings on the farm were also badly damaged.

Mrs. Violet Imler and daughter, who removed to West Jefferson several weeks ago, have returned.

ed, according to Dean John F. Cunningham of the college of agriculture at Ohio State University.

According to weather bureau officials, the rain deficiency this year has reached the 8.02 inch mark. Only one half-inch of rain has fallen thus far this month.

CHICAGO, May 21.—Crops through the great mid-western grain belt appeared doomed today as the drought remained unbroken. Agriculturists pointed out today that even though rain should fall over the vast territory, crops are too badly damaged to recover. They added, however, that there is no danger of a food shortage as reserve supplies are sufficient to feed the nation for almost two years.

MILK TO CLIMB
Chicago faces a two cent per quart increase in milk prices. Their pasturage withered by the broiling sun and hot winds, dairymen are being forced to buy grain to feed their herds.

A crop survey today revealed that Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, the Dakotas, Montana, Nebraska, Kansas and Minnesota are the states hardest hit by the prolonged drought. With the exception of rye, grain crops, hay crops and pasturage in these states are practically ruined. Canning crops, such as beans, corn, tomatoes, have also suffered.

The fruit crops of Illinois and Michigan—mostly peaches, cantaloupe and grapes—will apparently be a failure, the survey revealed. A bumper peach crop in the southern states is forecast, however.

With rivers, creeks and water holes dried up and pasturage burned, cattlemen of the north-west and western states face the necessity of dumping their livestock on the market.

CAB DRIVERS 'OUT'

COLUMBUS, May 21.—Negotiations were opened here today in an effort to bring about an end to the strike of 800 union taxicab drivers which was started at midnight Saturday.

The strike was called by the taxicab drivers' union which demanded abolition of the cab rental system and a regular salary for drivers. It was reported that the drivers were seeking a wage of $15 a week.

Although union officials gave assurance that violence would not be resorted to by the striking drivers, police officials added special details in the downtown sections as a precaution.

6 DIE AT CROSSING

AKRON, May 21.—Three double funeral services were being planned today for the six victims of the grade crossing crash at suburban Barberton early yesterday.

Those killed were Mr. and Mrs. William O. Maske, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Alexander and Mr. and Mrs. John Causlin, all of Akron.

The three couples were riding in a small sedan when an Erie limited passenger train struck the automobile. Mrs. Alexander, who was driving, waited for a freight train to clear the crossing and then apparently drove into the path of the flyer.

OVERWORKED NERVES

WARNING

From the Mayor
to the Citizens and Housewives
of Circleville

THIS IS A WARNING to beware of persons posing as solicitors, salesmen or inspectors seeking admittance to homes. They SHOULD NOT BE ADMITTED UNTIL THEIR CREDENTIALS HAVE BEEN CHECKED UP AND VERIFIED THROUGH DEPENDABLE LOCAL FIRMS OR PERSONS.

IN MANY CASES strangers without verified and reliable credentials are "spotters" or locaters for professional criminals - and according to police records lack of caution on the part of the householders in admitting such strangers has often times resulted in costly property losses and bitter experiences.

DO NOT PAY CASH IN ADVANCE to strangers on any merchandise - as in a number of instances the customer has NEVER RECEIVED ANYTHING for the cash advanced - nor has any refund been made of the initial deposit.

DO NOT CASH CHECKS FOR STRANGERS or issue a check to a stranger as a down-payment on an order - often times these checks have been "altered" and later cashed by a third and innocent party.

IT'S BETTER TO BE SAFE THAN SORRY - be SURE you know who the stranger is at your door before allowing him to enter your home. In case you are suspicious PHONE THE POLICE DEPARTMENT AT ONCE - Phone number 53 as we are anxious to co-operate with our citizens at all times. HIGH PRESSURE - FREE GIFT ARTISTS have been working the residence district of Circleville recently - selling ALL KINDS of merchandise - using the method of "something free" to gain admittance to the homes. This has been - according to police record - a scheme just to get inside the home - as in most cases there is nothing to be given away free.

One NEED NOT BE AFRAID of offending the honest salesman, solicitor or inspector representing a LOCAL FIRM - as THEY HAVE THEIR CREDENTIALS WITH THEM and welcome such investigation - (that is why they are required to carry credentials. Protect yourself - ASK FOR CREDENTIALS FROM LOCAL BUSINESS INSTITUTIONS.

Signed:

Wm. B. CADY

Mayor of Circleville.

When the Peddler calls again what will he say?

REST ASSURED that he will be prepared with "Free Samples" - and all the clever phrases and sales arguments which Master Peddlers have been able to assemble---and some of this ammunition will be so effectively Disguised that it will seem reasonable when considered from the peddler's point of view.

YOU ASK THE PEDDLER

Do You or the firm you represent create any employment for my family or my neighbors?

How Much Money Do You or your firm pay toward the upkeep of our public schools---wherein my children obtain their education?

Would I have a place to worship IF I depended upon the subscriptions paid by YOU or Your Firm?

How Much are you as a Door Bell Ringer, or your firm, taxed towards the upkeep of our Police and Fire Departments which offer ample protection for my home?

How Much do you, Mr. Peddler, or your company pay towards the support of our general welfare work?

Remember Your Merchant is maintaining a business institution---hiring Local Help---which is a factor in your city. He is ready to serve you at ALL TIMES and He Pays His Share on all of the above requirements.

You Would NOT Be Guided in money matters---or in politics by this Wandering-Door-Bell-Ringer. WHY be influenced by him in making your decision between the RIGHT and Wrong thing to do in supplying your needs.

Be On Your Guard For This One "I am glad Mrs. Housewife to find you and your city are at last making a stand to keep out the canvasser and peddler. In fact, I dare say (he dares say most anything to get your attention) that my company is somewhat responsible for the movement to eliminate the irresponsible type---As you know I AM BONDED---and my product is Nationally Advertised, etc." He will endeavor to convince you that he is anything but a peddler---calling himself a "special-home-office-representative"---"mill man"---service man, etc.

PLAY SAFE Better Be Sorry You DIDN'T Buy than sorry you did.

Keep THE PEDDLER on the OUTSIDE

DO NOT CONFUSE REPRESENTATIVES OF LOCAL INSTITUTIONS WITH ITINERANT PEDDLERS.

Representatives of legitimate local business houses, and growers of produce, who are furnishing employment to local people, paying local taxes, are entitled to an interview. Protect yourself. Ask the man who calls at your house, for credentials from local institutions.

Did you ever stop to think

EDSON W. WHITE Shawnee, Okla.

That failure to advertise kills many a profitable business. Advertising is essential to business success.

Asking them to buy makes selling easier. Progressive dealers don't waste time trying to sell unadvertised, unasked for merchandise.

The busiest, most helpful thing in any business is advertising. A live business concern can't afford to mark time.

The only business that can afford to mark time is dead. The ones who get the business are these who go after it in a vigorous way.

A going business should be a growing business. Business men today are building their business on a basis of truthful advertising.

Modern business men know that persistent advertising makes new customers and keeps old ones satisfied.

COUNTRY CLUB'S OPENING DANCE IS BIG SUCCESS

A huge success was the formal opening of the Pickaway Country Club dance hall, "The Old Barn," Saturday evening, where a public dance will be sponsored every Saturday night by the club house committee.

The dance hall is in the barn near the club house, which has been remodeled and decorated. The rustic interior has been retained with old fashioned lanterns dimly lighting the room. Even on the warmest evenings it will be a cool and delightful place for dancing because of the number of large doors.

Approximately 100 couples enjoyed the dance on the opening night. Larry Blankenship and his orchestra from Chillicothe, provided the program of dance music from 9 until 1 o'clock.

The house committee in charge of the affair and those to be held in the future included Hildebrand Jones, chairman, Mrs. Paul Adkins, Mrs. Tom A. Renick, Miss Ann Bennett, A. L. Wilder and William D. Radcliffe.

Among the number of out-of-town guests present were Miss Jane Brown, Miss Anne Hathaway, Miss Virginia Ballentine, Miss Helen Fetheroff, Grace Jandine, Miss Mary Seney, George Elsass, John D. Tomlinson, Jack Fawcett, Miss Jane Allison, Miss Kirkpatrick, Miss Mary Keating, Miss Ruth Hollis, and Nelson Kellenger of Chillicothe.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dunlap Jr., Miss Mary Radcliffe, William Radcliffe of Williamsport; Mr. and Mrs. Stoddard Raper, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Yerges and R. D. Workman of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cooke of Los Angeles, Cal.; and Mrs. George W. Connelly and Sheldon Pratt of Cleveland.

Relieved by California's Blow at Kidnaping

Prompt solution of Gettle kidnaping and rapid dispensation of California justice upon the kidnapers took a big load from the minds of many stellar citizens of Hollywood. It is now generally believed that the "snatch" racket has received a death blow in the Golden State. Among the stars who were threatened at various times are Mae West, who took up machine gunnery as a protection; Spencer Tracy, who was warned that his children were in danger if he did not pay; Bing Crosby, actor-singer, and Baby Leroy, youngest and brightest star in the film firmament. Marlene Dietrich, German star, did not have much confidence in regular forces of the law. She maintained a strong private guard to protect her young daughter and once spoke of sending the child to Germany for safety.
